Began indoors shooting in 1954 in the Holy Ghost gym. Our Wednesday "Fun nights" were started by Howie Kohlhepp, owner of Howies Liquor store, furnishing refreshments at his cost and an honor system paying for these purchases. We subleased an area to a Mariner Boy Scout troop for a place to put a building they are buying from the city of Chippewa Falls, who built them for temporary housing for returning WW2 veterans.

It was not until 1956 that club members shot a deer. Eddie Proulx shot a 180 lb. six-point buck in less than one hour, on opening day near Big Falls. Vie Frye followed with a nub buck.

1957-1960

Records regarding officers for this period are incomplete, except for 1958 with Floyd Back, President; Kenny Blake, VP; and Vie Frye, Secretary-Treasurer.

1958 saw the club subleasing property from the Chippewa Rod and Gun club who purchased the Mariner Boy Scout building. We found it necessary to locate some bunkers south of the road.

1958 was the year Howie Kohlhepp donated the first 10-year traveling trophy for the clubs heaviest deer. That year it went to Joe Loughrase for a fork horn shot on opening day, near the Chippewa rendering plant. Kenny Blake, Floyd Back, and Bernie Liedl registered three does.

During the 1960 season, 11 deer were registered, with Vie Frye taking the traveling trophy, with a 126 lb. 4 pt buck. Our club was able to convince other clubs of the Chippewa Valley Archery league to stage conservation shoots. Proceeds from these shoots to be donated to a specific conservation project in the 5 county area of the league. Efforts to continue to eliminate or curtail bow hunting. These shoots were to show that bow hunters, are not a self-interested group, interested only in bow hunting, but have active interest in conservation and improving recreational activities. Members of the clubs would sell conservation raffle tickets, offering a variety of prizes to ticket holders. The Eau Claire club in Carson Park held the first shoot. It netted $450 and was used to build the Hay Meadow Flowage #4 in the Chippewa County forests. Exerts from the March 30th, 1960 Herald-Telegram tell this story: Floyd Back of Chippewa Falls overcame far more than natural pressure when he won the Wisconsin Field archers annual shoot at the indoor championships at Milwaukee. After drilling all but 4 bulls-eyes, tournament officials checked his medals, which he had won in various shoots glued on his bow. Thinking he was using them as a shooting device, ordering him to remove all medals, he let Floyd shoot and continue the competition. If he got through the second half without missing any more shots than he had the first quarter, Floyd said "he just didn't dare miss or all my hard work would have gone for naught, along with the reputation of the club". He missed the bulls-eye or dead center only 6 times out of 112 possible. The total score was 548 out of 560.

The History of the Awards Banquet

Not all Banquets were held in Chippewa Falls. Two were held at the Left Guard, now Midway Motor Lounge, and one at the Helton Inn, now Holiday Inn Convention Center. The banquet held in 1990 at the local Elks Club was a financial disaster. Our club did not know until two weeks before the banquet that the management had changed and the new management did not honor previously quoted prices. We barely had enough funds to pay the bill.

We began having live music in 1968 with banquets being held for several years on the top floor of the Hotel Northern. Costs were $2.50 per person and increased to $4 and $5 over the next few years.

All banquets sites up to 1979 had cash bars. At the 1980 banquet at the McDonnell commons we began furnishing free beer, pop, ice, and mix. Costs were $8.50 per person. Marion DeRusha and Lucy Nicoli catered food, a service they performed for some 5 years.

The KC hall has proven to be the best site to date. A well-equipped kitchen is convenient for caterers. Members have discovered that food catered by the DeRushas and the current caterers, Pat Schemenauer, and Eugene and Phylis Goettl, surpass most our other banquets.

Good food, pleasant surroundings, lots of space for displays, prizes, free beverages, dancing, and raffles, give members and friends a reasonably priced evening out. Current costs are $12.50 per person in advance.

Past banquets have had guest speakers, most recently in 1993, Jump River Rosie. Terry Moulton has entertained several times. For 20 years winners of our annual guessing game were awarded cash prizes for guessing names of club members shooting deer. These contests were discontinued due to lack of interest. Members were recognized for their work with the club. Those members who encountered unusual, embarrassing incidents are awarded appropriately. Winners of the "27 1/2 pound suckling" Trophy for registering the smallest deer tenderly accepted their awards. The Herald-Telegram discontinued stories and pictures of these award banquets in 1989.

The history of Early Club Hunting

During the middle 60's we held early season club hunts. New members were invited to participate at several places such as the Beaver Creek area east of Sherwood Inn; Sugars Plate and Evergreen square north of Eau Claire lake; the Horse creek area west of Rock Dam or the Wild Cat mountain section east of Fairchild.

There was a very small deer herd during the early years of bow hunting, some areas closed during the deer gun season attracting late season bowhunters. Some members hunted the Nelson bottoms near Alma while others liked 9-mile Island east of Durand. Some went to Barksdale Munitions plant near Ashland and one year to Perrott State Park.

Some sections of Necedah Wildlife refuge were opened for the late season and attracted statewide hunters but only those with unused deer tags were permitted in the refuge. Special bow licenses were not issued until 1965. Rifle hunters who borrowed bow hunting equipment were conspicuous. The area became overcrowded and if you hit a deer you had to be lucky to get to the deer before somebody had their tag on it. Kenny Blake was the first club member fast enough to get his tag on a forked buck. This was the club's ninth deer, matching the number taken the year before, and was Kenny's third year in a row he got a deer. News releases listed Kenny as a "veteran bow hunter". This was 1963 and our club was in its 16th year. During this time members shot 49 deer averaging 3 a year. With the increase in the deer herd bow hunters have an opportunity to hunt during the late season in areas not overcrowded by hunters.

In 1968 Perry Smith shot his first club deer, a buck, in the late season. The next year he shot a doe. Beginning in 1970, Perry has registered a buck with 3 inch or more antlers for 25 consecutive years, and a deer for 27 consecutive years. We don't know of any bow hunter in our area who has had a more successful bow hunting record.

Our first indoor shoots were held in the Holy Ghost Gym from 1954 thru 1958. Bunkers were cotton filled mattresses followed by sweepings from material left over from shoe factories, which was backed, in double thickened gunnysacks. Orve Goulet hauled the shooting equipment back and forth from his home each week because there was no storage space in the gym.

Indoors shooting returned in 1961 and continued through 1965 at the Junior High gym. Excelsior bales were stored in a small room next to the gym until we had to remove them and stop shooting because the Fire inspectors declared them a fire hazard.

We were able to get the Notre dame gym in 1968 and continued thru 1979. Equipment was stored in the blocked off tunnel connecting the gym to McDonnell High. We had 8 and sometimes 10 five-person teams. Weekly scores and stories were carried in the Herald-Telegram along with pictures at playoff time. Beginning shooters and Explorer Scouts shot from 7 to 8 followed by regular shooters for several weeks. The gym was not available when the school expanded athletic programs.

A few years later we shot for a couple of years at the YMCA in an unfinished room with a dirt floor and poor lighting.

When Steve Loiselle moved his archery shop to the A.C. Mason building, we resumed indoors shooting (1985) which continued when Terry Moulton took over ownership. It continues at Mouldy's Archery with more room and video Archery.

To counteract statements made by those opposing bow hunting, we held an outdoor Novelty shoot in 1959 during the annual Notre Dame Parish picnic to demonstrate the capabilities of a bow and arrow. Notices were sent to area archers to take part in this "Ham and Egg" shoot. Balloons and targets were for beginners and those who wanted to try and shoot.

Playing cards were evenly pasted on large cardboard for "Archery Poker". Three eggs were hung at three different levels on a wooden frame. A motorized swinging target about the size of your hand and shaped like a small ham had a small circle on it. If the shooter hit this circle, they won a Peters meats picnic ham. Cash and other prizes were given for the egg and poker shoot. The late Lawrence "Windy" Paul encouraged people to watch the shooters with "Windy" paying the shooting fees for the young shooters. One teenager, Tom Blehrud, was busy all day.

Other public shooting demonstrations were the several bow vs. pistol shoots staged at the Chippewa Rod and Gun Club during their annual feeds.

Members were instructors for our "beginners nights" on Thursday evenings at the outdoor range beginning August 1st and continuing until the bow season began. This arrangement was also given for beginner and Explorer scouts an hour before the regular shooters started at the indoor shoots in the Notre Dame gym.

Our club instigated annual conservation shoots staged by the Chippewa Valley Archery league with excellent help from the Eau Claire club. These shoots were held so that checks for projects could be presented during the annual conservation congress meeting to an officer of the DNR before hunting regulations were discussed. The largest check was for $12,000 to help pay for a 78 acre addition to the Augusta wildlife area. These shoots raised some $34,000 for projects in our 5 county area. These shoots were discontinued with some lack of interest and some problems with some raffle ticket selling locations. The league has some limited funds for projects, donated funds to help stock perch in Lake Wissota and purchase an oxygen meter for fish managers to check water quality in area waters.

All members of the Archery league sold raffle tickets. Your Chippewa club did an excellent job of selling tickets, selling $1,818 tickets at one time with fewer members than we have now. Prizes were ordinary raffle prizes: Rifles, Shot guns, televisions, walkie-talkies, bows, and one year a Yamaha Trailmaster 80cc bike. The prize that created the most interest was 40 acres located between Cornell and Oilman west of the Perishing Wildlife area, won by Wayne Anderson of Chippewa Falls.

While your club enthusiastically supported the 14 conservation shoots by the Chippewa Valley league. They have located local projects with donations of club funds to the Chippewa Foundation; LE Phillips Center; Vef's memorial; Epilepsy Foundation; Chippewa Rod and Gun Pheasant pen construction; Lake Hallie Dam re-construction; Chippewa Rod and Gun club handicap dock; Hallie ballfields; and to members experiencing property loss thru fire.

Many range improvements and replacement of 3D targets were accomplished with very generous donations from Whitetails Unlimited, Mason Shoe, Indianhead Plating, Extrusion Dies, and Mould/s Archery.

Keeny and Rosa Blake along with Jim and Marg Hibbard built a Chippewa Bow hunters Centennial Parade. The float depicted an outdoor scene, along with Rosa facing a target with her bow. Kenny and their children (Linda & Carl) and Jim and Marg were also on it. The sign on the float read "feathers for the family" and was pulled with a jeep loaded with 6 club members dressed in their bright red club shirts.

Several years ago our club joined other outdoor groups to cut browse for deer in the Blue hills of Rusk County.

Wisconsin bow hunting started during the 1931 gun season when Roy Chase shot a spike buck. A few years later parts of Columbia and Sauk counties were set up for Archery only during the gun season.

Roy Chase organized a Wisconsin Archery Association which in the early 40's became the Wisconsin Bow hunters Association who through their efforts you are enjoying long and liberal regulations today because of rule changes.

1943 saw areas open for special early season hunting. Bow hunters had to wear the same type of clothing as gun hunters until 1951 when camouflage clothing was allowed. The late December hunts began in 1953. Up until the early 60's all bow kills had to be tagged by a game warden or someone at the Sheriffs office. In some areas the carcass received a thorough examination before being tagged.

A separate bow license started in 1965. Improved shooting hours were welcome changes. Beginning in 1989 you were not required to case your bow when coming in from hunting until you reached your vehicle. Tree stands were legalized in 1971.

Members of early archery clubs were anxious to help beginners, providing places to make their own arrows and sometimes their own bows out of lemonwood and osage orange. Some archers began selling equipment, solid metal and fibre glass bows and the popular line of Bear bows. Erv Lambrecht of Augusta built and sold exceptionally crafted recurve bows.

Some changes of equipment were ridiculed. When aluminum arrows were introduced, opponents said that archers were shooting "welding rods", stabilizers were "cattle prods", and compound bows were called "beaver traps".

When the compound bow was introduced, it dramatically changed the image of archery and with constant improvement of equipment, a wide variety of deer lures, rattling techniques, grunt calls, deer decoys, and safer tree stands. Wisconsin deer license sales should exceed 250,000 and hunters success should be more than 30%.

There was a renewed interest in the use of traditional equipment, stimulating sales of these items. Traditional bow hunting Associations and local traditional clubs have been formed. The Eau Claire club has hosted traditional shoots, which attracted a very large number of participants, the archery league now has a division for traditional shooters.

For many years' archers were accused of shooting too many does and fawns and they were not recovering wounded deer. This has proven false with several methodical, almost shoulder to shoulder inspections of areas frequented by archers. In Minnesota these inspections still occur.

Now some are claiming that archers are shooting too many large bucks before the gun season starts. The practice of baiting for deer is being debated. Quite a few years ago hunting deer over salt licks was prohibited.

Our club has maintained an average of 260 members over the past several years. We witness a turn over of members each year but are able to maintain the average with new and reinstated members.

Owners of former Archery shops, Marv Belnaps Golden Hawk Archery and Steve Loiselles Archery encouraged beginning Archers to Join local clubs. This tradition has been carried over by Terry Moulton and his employees at Mouldy's Archery. They encourage archers to take advantage of the privileges and facilities of local archery clubs. These new members generally take care of the number of non-renewals. Several Taxidermists have helped the club by donating free mounts. These include Bear Taxidermy, Animal Taxidermy and Dave Stavnav.

Our membership has had several second-generation members but now has three generations represented (Ace Loschko/Dave Loschko/Crystal Loschko). We also have some 30 cadets members, 15 yrs. and younger, who have been enrolled by their parents or friends so that they acquire basic archer) skills, participate in club events, and learn proper hunting habits.

We have witnessed a big drop in ladies memberships. Several ladies were active during the clubs first 50 yrs however. For over 2 decades ladies took care of the lunch counter at league shoots and family feeds. Several served on the board of directors.

Dorothy Hintzman, Elizabeth Proulx, and Rosa Blake, who served 2 three-year terms, held the office of Secretary Treasurer. Jean Loiselle was our 1985 president.

Bea Kent was the first lady to shoot a bear in 1968 followed by Mary Solie in 1976. Marge Curry took a bear in 1982 and 1984. Bea Kent also took the traveling trophy with a 141 lb. 9 pt buck in 1968. Mary Nussenberger's 208 lb., 12 pt in 1976 also took home the traveling trophy. 1977 saw Marg Hibbard take the award with a 183 lb., 8 pointer. Marion DeRusha and Lil Frye both have been recognized over the years as "Members-of-the- Year".

Our club has seen 40 years of our Wednesday "Fun Nights", paying for food and refreshments with an honor system and providing members with an evening of comaradarie and fellowship. May this trademark of the club continue with the help of interested volunteers.

We hope that more members will become involved in the work necessary to maintain club facilities and assist in other club functions. When we celebrate future anniversaries, you will feel a sense of satisfaction that you contributed your share towards its success.
